Oregon State University's impact as a major internationally recognized public research university brings increasing and significant impacts on Oregon’s economy. In 2014, economists from ECONorthwest estimated that OSU’s annual economic footprint was $2.32 billion – an increase of 15 percent from 2011. Half of Oregon State’s economic impact occurs outside of the Corvallis area and the university’s activities in 2014 were responsible for 31,660 jobs statewide. Oregon State’s statewide economic impact is unique, as OSU has a physical presence and operations in each of Oregon’s 36 counties.

109 undergraduate students—representing 18% of the undergraduates from your district—receive financial support from OSU’s Bridge to Success Program.

Oregon State University’s Bridge to Success Program, now in its ninth year, covers all tuition and fee costs for more than 2,300 in-state students. Additional funds cover books and supplies for about a third of those students. Any financial aid applicant who meets Pell Grant and Oregon Opportunity Grant eligibility and shows satisfactory progress toward degree completion is automatically considered. It is the largest financial aid program of its kind in Oregon.

Hatfield Marine Science Center
Hatfield Marine Science Center is OSU’s campus for research, education, and outreach in marine and coastal services. HMSC works closely with local coastal communities, including the fishing industry. It is home to several programs including the Coastal Marine Experiment Station, the Cooperative Institute for Marine Resources Studies, the Marine Mammal Institute, and the Northwest Natural Marine Renewable Energy Center. HMSC has a visitor center featuring exhibits, programs, and classes that acquaint visitors with marine species, marine research, and the coastal environment to equip visitors to better appreciate, manage, and sustain coastal and marine resources.
